

Editorial Policies

The JGAPS's Editors strive to improve the journal and ensure the quality of the material published. They work hard to meet the needs of readers and authors. They are responsible for all materials published in the journal.

Receiving Manuscripts

1. An acknowledgement is sent to authors within seven days of receipt of submission.

Review

2. The only criteria used for paper acceptance are the quality, originality, importance, adherence to the journal's policies, and its significance to journal readership.
3. The JGAPS uses a masked reviewing system for all submissions. This journal uses double-blind review, which means that both the reviewer and author identities are concealed from both sides, throughout the review process. Please make every effort to ensure that the manuscript itself, including acknowledgment, footnotes, and appendixes contains no clues to the authors' identities. All manuscripts submitted to the journal remains confidential while under review.
4. All manuscripts are reviewed by at least two anonymous reviewers who have no conflict of interest related to this task.
5. The reviewers asked to rate the quality of the manuscripts according to a prespecified criteria, and to judge whether to accept or reject the manuscript, or to apply minor or major modifications. The reviewer should refrain from showing personal criticisms.

Decision

6. The decision of the reviewers is mandatory for the Editor-in-Chief.
7. The Editor-in-chief notifies authors about decision within two weeks of receiving the reviewers' reports.
8. Once the manuscript is accepted, the corresponding author will be asked to complete a copyright license agreement on behalf of all authors.
9. Once published, 25 off-prints of the article are sent to the author together with two copies of the issue.

10. The editorial board reserves the right to acceptance or rejection submissions not consistent with the journal's publication rules and policies or not prepared in accordance with the journal's guidelines.
11. The journal may provide an author whose manuscript is declined with the reviewers' comments, maintaining meanwhile the anonymity of the reviewers. However, the author cannot resubmit the same rejected manuscript even if all corrections are made.
12. Authors have the right to appeal against the editorial decisions. Appeals should be referred first to the journal Editor-in-chief via journal's email. Unresolved matters with authors will be directed to Academic Publication Council.
13. Submitted material is not returned to authors whether approved for publication or not. Authors are notified in case their submission is declined.

Modifications

14. In case authors are requested to make changes to their manuscript, the revised version should be received within two months following the request unless the author request reasonable extension.
15. The editors may modify typescripts to eliminate ambiguity or repetition to ensure clarity.
16. If the author discovers any significant mistakes or wrong data, they should promptly notify the journal, and collaborate to correct or to withdraw the manuscript. If such notifications came from a third party, the journal would notify the author who should correct or withdraw the article.

Copyrights

17. Once the paper is typeset, the author will be notified by email, and asked to proof read it and returned within 36 hours from receipt of the proof.
18. The Journal reserves all copyrights. A special permission to waive these rights must be obtained from the Journal in case the author seeks permission to reprint elsewhere, provided three years have lapsed from date of publication.
19. The author can publish the abstract of the accepted manuscript in newspapers, websites, or conferences, providing that they declare that the manuscript is accepted for publication by the journal.
20. The author can present the published article for awards, competitions, or academic promotion, provide that the provided party should not republish the article without written permission from the journal. In all cases, the publication details for the article should be mentioned.

Financials

21. The journal covers all publication costs.
22. No fees or charges are required for manuscript processing or publishing materials except for colored figures if requested by authors.
23. No honorariums are paid for publishing articles unless commissioned by the Journal.
24. The journal does not receive, accept, or publish advertisement materials.

Criticism

25. The Journal welcomes cogent criticisms of published work and may publish it if appropriate for publication. Please forward any clarifications and criticisms for the Editor-in-chief via journal's email.
26. The journal is willing to publish any corrections, clarifications, retractions and apologies when needed. Acceptance is not based on positivity or negativity of the results.

Breaching of Conducts

27. The Journal takes quick measures and actions in case of any breach of its conducts by the author, or for any later-arisen ethical issues related to the submitted research, even after years of publication.
 - If later proven to the Journal that a researcher had published the submitted research, hard or soft format, prior to or after submission for publication, the author will be banned from publication with the Journal and other journals of the Academic Publication Council,. The author's affiliated institute will be notified.
 - If a plagiarism is discovered for the submitted manuscript, the Journal will take the following measures:
 - If the author does not work at Kuwait University:
